A Gala New Year's Is Indicated by Plans Of Many Institutions

Theaters, Hotels, Resorts and Restaurants Making Preparations For The Week-End—Reports Indicate Most Festive Celebration For Number of Years.

Theaters, hotels, resorts and restaurants in Kingston and vicinity are busy planning for the New Year's week-end, with a round of parties, special entertainments and dinners, which will begin with programs this evening, and some of which will not end until early Monday morning. Many breakfasts are being served for those who care to eat after partying.

This first New Year's, since the return of legalized liquor, finds most of the popular eating places and resorts with full schedules, and many of the places where reservations are necessary for attendance, report that the quotas are rapidly reaching the limit.

Reports indicate that it will be the most festive New Year in this city for a number of years. A special New Year's program has been arranged by the Broadway theatre, with four outstanding vaudeville acts on the program, followed by a talking picture. The show is scheduled to begin at midnight Sunday.

Golden Rule Inn has planned a special floor show, music for dancing, a full course turkey dinner, and a gala holiday affair Sunday evening. Reservations for this event are sought in advance. There is a minimum charge.

The Spa at West Hurley will hold celebration parties on both this evening and Sunday night. A special orchestra, Henry's Harlem Harmony, will play for the occasions. There is a minimum charge.

Katrine Inn at Lake Katrine on Sunday evening promises an all-star Broadway floor show, dancing to Steve Jones and his Harlem Hot Tots, a full course turkey dinner, vaudeville and other specialties. Reservations are sought in advance, and there is a minimum charge.

The Wayside Inn at Ellenville will have a midnight supper Sunday evening, with festivities beginning at 10:30 and lasting until closing. There will be dancing and entertainment of a special nature. Reservations are asked and a minimum charge will be made.

Dintard's Black Swan Inn at Rifton will serve a special turkey dinner Sunday evening, with holiday music and entertainment for the occasion. Here also there is a minimum charge.

Spinnings in Fort Ewen will begin the celebration with a midnight turkey dinner Sunday evening and the festivities will continue until early Monday morning when a breakfast will be served. Special music for dancing has been engaged.

Shirl Manor on Albany avenue extension will offer a special turkey dinner Sunday night, with a good orchestra for dancing.

Crystal Gardens will tempt celebrators with a turkey dinner Sunday evening. Holiday music will be by Joe Hamilton and his broadcasting orchestra.

Orchid Garden Inn at Esopus has planned a turkey dinner for Sunday evening, dancing by the Metropolitan orchestra, and lots of novelties and noise-makers.

Paradise Inn on Flatbush avenue extension offers a New Year's eve celebration with music by Danny's Rhythm Boys and entertainers.

The Valencia Grill on East Strand suggests dining and dancing with the Cuban Entertainers furnishing the music. Celebrations will be held both Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Winter's on Broadway will have a special party New Year's eve with a turkey dinner and dancing to Winter's Klub orchestra. There is a small minimum charge.

Ebel's Restaurant on Broadway extension will offer a special dinner to the public on New Year's eve. The menu includes a special dinner and a special orchestra.

The Colonial Grill opposite the Broadway Theatre will serve a special dinner, dancing will be enjoyed on the Colonial Orchestra, and special vaudeville acts have been secured.

Ruby Hotel will have parties both tonight and Sunday with dancing to a good orchestra, novelties and eats. The Hofbrau will serve a free midnight lunch Sunday evening as part of the celebration. Music is by the Polka Dot Entertainers. This will be one of the few places without a cover charge.

The I. O. O. F. Hall at Accord will have the scene of a holiday dance this evening with novelties and Pinola's orchestra featuring the affair.

At the Katrine Grange Hall will be a special New Year's party, with old-fashioned and modern dancing to the music of Avery and his orchestra. This evening as a part of a holiday celebration.

Almost all of the local hotels and restaurants have indicated that they will serve special holiday dinners on Monday. A number of private and recreational affairs will add to the festive full schedule of festivities, and it is expected that everyone who wishes to celebrate will have plenty of opportunity this year.

Banking Charges Are Ordered Suspended By General Johnson

Schedules Designed To Increase Bank Levies To Customers Ordered To Be Withheld—Filing Date For Code Extended To February 1—Deputy Administrator In Charge of Banking Code Is Dismissed By NRA Chief.

Washington, Dec. 30 (P) Banks in every corner of the nation were under sudden NRA orders today to withhold projected schedules designed sharply to increase bank charges to customers.

While the capital speculated upon the final outcome of the swift move by Hugh S. Johnson in cancelling the increased levies, the NRA administrator himself added only silence to his order that the charges be suspended "indefinitely and immediately," or at least until he had approved them.

The first action came last night as the result of what was officially described as a most unusual "misunderstanding." Johnson lost little time after learning that a proposed uniform higher schedule under the NRA banking code had been circulated by the code authority among all clearing house associations with the notion that Johnson had approved them.

The NRA chief declared immediately to newspapersmen that he had not approved the schedules; in fact, had not even seen them. Simultaneously he summarily dismissed Cary S. Weisger, Jr., deputy administrator in charge of the banking code, who was said to have been instrumental in a public announcement that Johnson had approved the banking code authority plans.

Although the proposed higher schedule circulated among the clearing house associations was not made public, it was understood to approximate a "retroactive" system by which customers would pay more for virtually all bank services.

In addition to uniform service charges on all money received accounts, it was said to include levies of so much per check above a certain number of checks, charges for each deposit slip and each item on the slip and a minimum charge of ten cents for cashing checks presented by non-depositors.

Johnson said in a brief public statement accompanying his order last night that he intended to give "a careful scrutiny in the public interest" to every schedule of charges submitted by local or regional clearing house associations. The associations were given an extension until February 1 to submit them. Apparently because of delays among the various associations, which previously had been given until January 1 to submit schedules, the banking code authority had compiled a standard set of charges.

Under the original plan each clearing house association was to have arranged its own "fair practice" rules, with adequate charges to prevent accounts being carried at a loss. These rules were to have been submitted to Johnson for approval before going into effect. Under Johnson's order last night all schedules thus far submitted will be held up.

New Year Will Usher In Republican Administration

Mayor-elect Harry B. Walker to Officially Assume Duties on Monday When He Reads Annual Message at Council Session New Year's Morning—Will Announce Plans For His Administration.

New Year's Day on Monday marks the ushering in of a Republican administration in the city of Kingston after an absence of two years, when Mayor-elect Harry B. Walker officially assumes his duties as mayor of the city by delivering his annual message at the meeting of the common council that morning at 10 o'clock in the council chambers on the third floor of the city hall.

At that meeting the mayor will also announce the appointment of those who will compose his cabinet for the ensuing two years.

The New Council.

Conrad J. Heiselman, Republican, who was re-elected alderman-at-large, will preside at the council meeting. The members of the 1934-35 council are:

First ward—Paul A. Zucca, R. (re-elected).

Second ward—Jacob H. Tremper, Jr., R. (re-elected).

Third ward—John J. Schwenk, R. (re-elected).

Fourth ward—Frank J. Leirey, R. (re-elected).

Fifth ward—Edwin W. Ashby, R. (re-elected).

Sixth ward—Joseph E. Klein, R. (re-elected).

Seventh ward—Joseph H. Kelly, R. (re-elected).

Eighth ward—Philip J. Doherty, D. (re-elected).

Ninth ward—Charles A. Ringwald, R. (re-elected).

Tenth ward—Charles Burger, D. (re-elected).

Eleventh ward—Eugene Corwell, R. (re-elected).

Twelfth ward—Lyman T. Schoonmaker, R. (re-elected).

Thirteenth ward—Gottlieb P. Reinhardt, D. (re-elected).

It will be seen that the common council will be Republican-controlled with eight members of that party, and five Democratic aldermen.

Mayor-elect Walker has also announced that in regard to the office of deputy city treasurer, recently created by the common council, that there was some doubt as to whether the council could legally create such an office. The charter does give the council authority to create the office of controller by ordinance and the mayor-elect has announced that he would appoint Joseph H. Craig to have charge of this work and the title and duties would be defined later.

Craig to be Appointed.

Mayor-elect Walker has also announced that in regard to the office of deputy city treasurer, recently created by the common council, that there was some doubt as to whether the council could legally create such an office. The charter does give the council authority to create the office of controller by ordinance and the mayor-elect has announced that he would appoint Joseph H. Craig to have charge of this work and the title and duties would be defined later.

Public Works Board.

Following the council meeting on New Year's morning the board of public works will meet to organize at 11 o'clock in the board's office.

Mayor-elect Walker has announced that he was recommending that James G. Norton be appointed superintendent of public works and that Henry D. Darrow be appointed city engineer.

Orthopedic Clinic At the Benedictine

Local Hospital Announces Re-opening of Clinic With Dr. Saul Ritchie in Charge—Will Be Held First Wednesday of Each Month.

Due to the illness of Dr. Brainerd H. Whitbeck, who was formerly in charge of the orthopedic clinic in the Benedictine Hospital, this clinic was temporarily discontinued. The hospital, however, is now pleased to announce the re-opening of this clinic. It will be in charge of Dr. Saul Ritchie, who has been affiliated with the Benedictine Hospital since his arrival in Kingston early last spring.

Dr. Ritchie has specialized in orthopedic work. Before moving his office to Kingston he was connected with the following hospitals in New York city: Served as assistant attending surgeon in the Harlem Hospital; assistant attending orthopedist, Brooklyn Jewish Hospital; clinical assistant attending orthopedist in the Hospital for Joint Diseases.

As formerly the clinic will be held on the first Wednesday of each month. Further information regarding visiting hours will be in next week's press.

Ball in En Route to U. S.

Paris, Dec. 30 (AP)—William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to Russia, and Alexander Troyanovsky, Russian ambassador to the United States, left Paris together today to sail on the United States line Washington for New York.

St. James M.E. Church Heating Plant Out No Sunday Service

The unexpected abrupt action of the past two days has frozen the boilers of the heating system in St. James M. E. Church, and although men worked all day today trying to make repairs and get the system in running order it was found impossible to do so, and at noon today the church was asked to announce that the Sunday services in the church had been temporarily called off.

The big church is heated by steam and when the boiler went out the church to start a fire this morning it was to find both coal and power frozen solid.

The Rev. Frank H. Neal is pastor of the church.

President Seeking New Tariff Power

Plan To Sprinkle Trade Reciprocity Treaties Around the World Will Be Submitted To Congress.

Washington, Dec. 30 (P)—A plan under which President Roosevelt hopes to sprinkle trade reciprocity treaties around the world was under preparation by the administration today and will be submitted to Congress.

In one quarter the plan was described as intent to allow the chief executive to make slits in the tariff walls around the United States through individual give and take treaties, without having to submit each separate pact to the Senate for ratification.

Simultaneously it was disclosed that despite a heavy round of diplomatic negotiations, probably the smallest crop of treaties in recent years will be sent to the Senate when Congress convenes—less than ten being slated for the trip to the Capitol.

President Roosevelt himself disclosed yesterday his intention of making certain tariff proposals to Congress. At the White House the details of his program were kept under cover.

In other quarters, however, it was confirmed that rather than raise or lower the tariff barriers as a whole, Mr. Roosevelt hopes to alter part policy by what has been officially described as a "Yankee trading" plan.

Most important in the list of treaties to go to the Senate, except possibly the renewed effort for ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway pact, is the recently concluded "model" treaty of reciprocity between the United States and Colombia.

Under its terms coffee and certain other Colombian products are to be admitted duty free for a period of two years in return for Colombian concessions on certain American products.

Exact terms of the treaty will not be made public until after its approval by both the American and Colombian congresses. State department officials believe it contains nothing which would impede its ratification.

On its speedy approval, however, depends to some extent the progress of similar pacts now under negotiation with Sweden, Portugal and Argentina.

Secretary Hull, now enroute to Washington from Montevideo, signed several treaties while still at the Pan American Conference.

One, the Lamas Pance Pact, may bring a review of the policy of the United States in Pan American countries from especially interested legislators.

In an appeal to Pan American nations to sign five different peace pacts, all of which lacked at least one signature, Secretary Hull also pledged ratification by the United States of the general treaty of Inter-American Arbitration, signed at Washington in 1923.

The secretary of state also is bringing back from the Montevideo conference a treaty granting equal rights of nationality to women. The American delegation at first withheld its approval, but later capitulated following feminine protests.

Other treaties to be presented to the Senate include the multilateral radio convention, signed at Madrid on December 9, 1932; the convention signed between the United States and Canada in December, 1922, exempting American and Canadian vessels in sheltered waters (particularly in Puget Sound) from provisions of the London Load Line Convention; and the copyright convention, signed at Rome in 1929.

Walker Announces Other Appointments

Mayor-elect Harry B. Walker on New Year's Day will announce additional appointments as follows:

Ernest A. Kelly of West Chester street as commissioner of the public welfare board.

Charles J. Mullen as a member of the board of fire commissioners.

C. Lester Lee as a member of the planning board.

James G. D. H. Haskin as city auditor.

250 Applications for Jobs Received by E. Frank Flanagan

Newly Appointed Supervisor of Business and Real Property Census Finds There Is No Shortage of Material as Far as Numbers Are Concerned.

E. Frank Flanagan, who has been appointed supervisor of the business and real property census, is already finding that there is no dearth of material, as far as numbers are concerned, from which to select the enumerators whose appointment he will have to oversee.

Mr. Flanagan said today that already he had received some 250 applications in person, by telephone and by mail. He desires to emphasize the fact that appointment to a position as enumerator will involve certain necessary qualifications, among them some clerical experience, and a general idea of bookkeeping.

The main idea back of the present census is to give temporary employment to those of the so-called white-collar class who are without work.

The census will give employment to about 15,000 supervisors and enumerators, furnishing temporary work for approximately one person to every 140 business establishments in the United States. In all there are more than 2,100,000 establishments to be canvassed, giving 2,500,000 man hours of employment to the enumerators. The census is to start January 1 and the field work is to be completed by February 15.

Enumerators will be paid on a piece work basis. In the business census the rate will be 20 cents per schedule.

Following the completion of the business census a real property census will be taken. In the northern zone workers on this census will be advanced weekly the hourly rate of 47 cents. Their total pay will be figured at the rate of 18 cents for each residential unit enumerated, two cents for vacant lots (in cities) and other types of buildings. Where transportation is necessary the rate of payment may be advanced sufficiently to cover the cost.

Mr. Flanagan expected to leave today or Saturday for Washington to learn more particulars regarding the work he is to supervise.

Endurance Fliers Land Plane Today

Frances Marsalis and Helen Richey Came to Earth at 10:45 Today—Women's Record of 237 Hours, 52 Minutes.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 30 (P)—Exhausted from battling rain squalls and choppy winds, Frances Marsalis and Helen Richey landed at 10:45 a. m. today, completing the longest sustained flight for women, 237 hours and 52 minutes.

The women took off December 26 from the Municipal Airport and equaled the previous record of eight days, four hours and five minutes at 5:00 p. m. Thursday, establishing the new mark officially one hour later.

The fliers came in with a graceful landing in the face of a brisk wind. Members of their ground crew and department of commerce inspector James R. Puckett went down the runway to greet them.

The fliers were quipped to the ground by their relieving plane. They had requested this because the four hours in the air, Mrs. Marsalis feared, had injured her depth perception.

Second 5-Year Plan Made Public by Soviet

Moscow, Dec. 30 (P)—A second five year plan for Soviet Russia, dwarfing the first, and designed to make the country self sufficient industrially was made public today by the Soviet press.

The plan under which it is the hope of Russia to industrialize the U. S. S. R. in five years on a scale of her most powerful capitalistic neighbors and make it capable by 1937 of supplying all the indispensable requirements of her people has been accepted by the political bureau and will be submitted to the 17th communist congress January 19.

The five year plan was submitted to the bureau by Vyacheslav Molotov, president of the council of commissars and V. V. Kuznetsov, president of the supreme council of national economy. Announcement of the plan has been delayed more than a year.

FIRE THREATENS CONTENT IN CANADA AT 50 BELOW

Three Rivers, Que., Dec. 29 (P)—Fire threatened today to destroy the only Empire content as it lay below zero weather, hampered the efforts of firemen to control it.

Six hundred girl pupils of the primary school and the fire brigade in charge were about for the holiday.

The city water pressure failed and Fire Chief Jules Vachon said he had little hope of saving the content, valued on municipal list at $150,000.

Mr. Frederic Sander, superintendent of the city laboratory, said he had no hope of saving the content, valued on municipal list at $150,000.

Mr. Sander said he had no hope of saving the content, valued on municipal list at $150,000.

Icy Cold Blast Covers Kingston As Temperature Reads 26 Below

Thermometers Registered Even Lower Than Thursday Night When 22 Below Was Recorded—All CWA Outdoor Projects Stopped—River Ice-Locked—Many Drivers Unable To Start Their Cars.

With thermometers recording as low as 26 degrees below zero at 7 o'clock this morning on Mountain View avenue, while in other sections of the city readings of from 22 to 18 below were reported, Kingston shivered through the coldest night so far experienced this winter. Friday night was several degrees colder than Thursday night when 22 below was recorded in the city.

All day Friday the thermometer stood at zero or close to it and toward night the temperature began dropping far below the zero mark. So intense was the cold that householders found it difficult and in many cases impossible to keep the houses comfortable and heating plants that usually when pushed kept the house at a temperature of 50 or more registered close to 70 degrees and it was impossible to get the house warmer.

This morning thermometers at 8 o'clock registered as low as 18 degrees below zero and readings read from 10 to 18 below in various sections of the city. As a result of the zero weather the local CWA knocked off work on all projects as it was too cold for the men to work outdoors.

Work of removing snow from the city streets was also halted and practically no outdoor work was in progress in the city today, aside from the work performed by the bakers, grocers and other merchants who made house to house deliveries with trucks.

There were not as many automobiles on the street today as on Friday and that was due to the fact that many of the auto owners were unable to start their cars running this morning. All over town on Friday it was a common sight to see one car towing another. Friday night heated garages were at a premium, and it was practically impossible to obtain a rented battery from any of the dealers as their supply had been exhausted by the unusual demand.

All river service was tied up as the Hudson river was solidly frozen from shore to shore with ice fully a foot thick, and the zero weather made ice all day Friday and today. The ferry transport is locked in her berth in the Rondout creek, and several vessels are still ice-locked in the river between Poughkeepsie and Tivoli.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 30 (P)—All of New York state remained today in the grip of the coldest weather experienced in a generation, but the grip was beginning to relax.

While reports from various parts of the state told of another day of sub-zero temperatures, in most instances the thermometer readings were slightly higher than yesterday. An exception, however, was found in Albany, where the official minimum, at 5 a. m., today was 21 degrees below zero, or three degrees colder than yesterday. In the next three hours the mercury had climbed to 19 below.

Today's forecast predicted "not quite so cold" with overcast skies and probably light snow.

Home Owners Loan To Move Tuesday

Effective January 2, the Ulster county headquarters of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation will be moved from the city clerk's office in the city hall to the Ulster county treasurer's office on the first floor of the court house. This office has been temporarily located in the city clerk's office for the reason that Deputy City Clerk Sam N. Mann is the appraiser for the corporation.

The Home Owners' Loan headquarters at the county treasurer's office will be in charge of Morton Finch, preliminary appraiser for this corporation in Ulster county. As Mr. Finch's duties necessitate his being out appraising properties most of the time, his regular office hours at the county treasurer's office will be each Wednesday afternoon and Saturday morning. Messages may be left at the county treasurer's office for Mr. Finch at any time and he will be glad to get in touch with all home owners who are desirous of consulting him in regard to possibility of securing loans upon their homes. The telephone number at the county treasurer's office is 432.

Uptown Merchants Will Add One Percent Sales Tax on Goods

At a meeting of the Uptown Merchants' Association held Friday afternoon it was decided that on and after January 2 the one per cent sales tax on merchandise will be added to all sales. The bracket form will be used.

The imposition of a sales tax has been included by many merchants in the sales price of an article and few people realize that they are paying a tax. Some business firms have been charging their regular price of merchandise and adding the sales tax to the marked price, thus calling attention of the public to the fact that they are paying a sales tax.

MENUS OF THE DAY

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Punches

(To Serve On New Year's Day)

Punches can be served in small glasses, named by the hostess or the guests can serve themselves, the punch being placed in a large bowl. Small sandwiches, wafers, thin slices of fruit cake or small cookies can be served with punch.

Punch Recipes

Cider Punch, Serving 18

1 gallon cider 1/2 cup lemon juice
1 cup orange juice 1/2 cup sugar
1 cup water
Boil sugar and water 2 minutes. Cool, add fruit juice and cider. Chill and serve.

Fruit Punch (Serving 24)

1 cup sugar 1 cup grapefruit juice
1 cup water 1 cup lemon juice
1 cup orange juice 1/2 cup pineapple juice
1 cup lemon juice 1/2 cup lime juice
1 cup orange juice 1/2 cup water

Boil the water with sugar for 5 minutes. Cool, add rest of ingredients, pour into punch bowl in which a large piece of ice has been placed.

Grape Juice Punch (Serving 12)

1 quart grape juice 1 cup pineapple juice
1 cup lemon juice 1 cup orange juice
1 quart ginger ale 1 cup lemon juice
1 cup water

Mix ingredients and serve in glasses or cups filled with chopped ice.

Egg Nog (Serving 12)

12 egg yolks 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cups confectioner's sugar 2 quarts milk
1 cup rum 12 egg whites
brandy or wine beaten

Beat yolks until very light. Slowly add sugar, beating steadily, slowly add rum, salt and milk. Beat well and fold in egg whites. Chill, as punch is greatly improved in flavor if allowed to stand 2 hours in cold place. The egg white will rise to the top like foam and when served it can be stirred gently.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Distinctive Style.

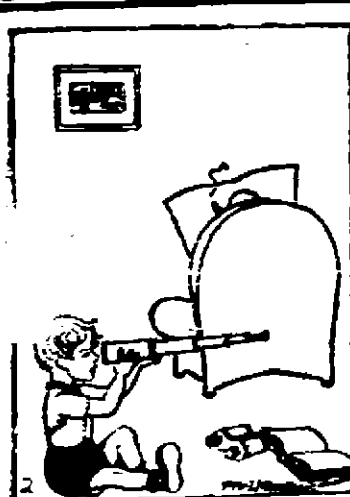

8062. Just to be different—this model features the skirt sections "going up" on the waist, with soft fulness at the seams. It has also the popular cowl neck, and a new sleeve, fitted below the elbow, and with crosswise tucks above, also a group of tucks at the armhole. An excellent style for woollens, crepe, velvet or satin.

Designed in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 38 will require 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. To finish with bias binding as pictured in the large view, will require 5 yards 1 1/2 inch wide. The width of the dress at the lower edge is 1 1/2 yard. If the skirt is cut bias the dress will require 4 3/4 yards of material 39 inches wide (in size 38).

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

FUR USED IN MANY DIFFERENT STYLES

Bring Warm, Rich Tones to the Winter Ensembles.

The unexpected way in which fur has been used on Paris coats this winter may be considered as an indication of its new role in fashions. If the ideal cuffs and collars will be so soon, it is much more frequent to see fur used in many different ways.

Worth has explored it as any other material—velvet, woven silk or lame, cutting and draping it as he would have done with any of these. Lingerie and other fine accessories compete with the most expensive materials, bringing a warm and new note to a dress without prejudicing the slenderness of the ensemble.

As an example, there is the model called Moune. This rare and rare frock has a modern air but with something about it also that is reminiscent of the period around 1890 with its fitting bodice buttoning up to the neck, and its tight sleeves with a puff at the shoulders.

FLOWER NECKLINE

By FREDERICK NICHOLAS

See that flattering ruche effect about the back of the neck and on the shoulders? It is composed of multi-colored velvet flowers. Make a mental note of this pretty velvet rose neckline effect. It is worth remembering when you start out to buy that next evening frock which you will be needing ere the midwinter social season draws to a close. And have you heard that it's vogueish for sleeves to fail to make connection at the shoulders? This dropped décolleté effect is very prettily achieved in the dress pictured, the material for which is a choice navy-blue silk which is woven in invisible checks and stripes alternating in wide sections. The princess silhouette so highly in fashion at the present time is maintained although an adroit shirring is introduced to one side. Rhinestone bracelets are worn in triplicate.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Backless gowns continue in the evening picture.

Lanvin creates frocks with contrasting sleeves.

Light colored cordure is favored for ski wear.

Mainbocher designs detachable trains of billowy ruffled tulle.

Filmy lace in black or a lovely color is favored for the dinner gown.

Luxury blouses are fashioned of glamorous satins, velvets and lame weaves.

Wools Take on Importance in New Styles for Winter

General trends that are most important include the "knotty tweed" idea. This appears in monotone rustic cruise suiting with silky, fluffy knot decorations and in soap-smooth ratine yarn tweeds for typical fall spectator sports suits and coats.

A noteworthy development in tweed suitings make them very supple and about 11-ounce in weight; this makes lovely monotone resort suitings in typical linen patterns. Much is done with the companion theme and according to early ordering it should be a big factor this spring.

There are cashmere yarn homespun in companion plaids and chevrons and a wide selection of amusing spaced block patterns—flashes of color on neutral grounds to make the jackets for plain skirts.

Black Satin Taupe Toque

Has Unusual Trimmings

A hat that makes you laugh and love it is made by Roberte Cusey and is a toque in black satin taupe, trimmed with a pompadour of plumed ostrich feathers, perched right smack above the forehead and trickling down between the eyebrows.

Another one by this modiste is a small brown suede affair, geometric in its angles and folds, worn with all the hair out of sight about the face.

Monarch's Watch Sold

Reaching on the back of the case a miniature of Empress Catherine, widow of Peter the Great, and dated 1725, the year of Peter's death, a large gold repeating watch was sold recently in London for $1,200. The watch was in the collection of a foreign monarch whose name was not disclosed.

Mid-season collections from France feature warm woollens. As the illustrations above depict wool is used not only for dresses but for coats as well. Experienced tourists know the importance of wool in their wardrobes. Often sunshiny climes which are warm as toast during the day require warm clothes at night when a breeze suddenly springs up or the thermometer drops. Note how the coats and dresses have individual highlights and stylelights to please every taste.

Contrasting sleeves, held together by the same material across the front or back of the neckline are a fashion of the Paris showings. Schiaparelli makes them of one of her striped pebbly black woolen called "black-sheep," while the back and sides of the bodice are of crepe de Chine.

The ensemble has a two-thirds belted coat of black-sheep woolen with circular front fulness and one of the smart bow belts of the collection, this one in black with metal bars like big silver stitches as fastenings.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Paris—A sale and buy event

were more satin than has been seen in the past. The white was also seen, but in a more still strongest, especially in the navy and sapphire blues.

Several smart long-sleeved gowns were worn. These usually were in white with up-to-the-throat bodices and with low back.

Quantities of jeweled or enamel hair hoops and diamond clips and tiaras were worn. The hair was smartly arranged in parted on the side or middle, and drawn off the lower part of the ears in short flat ringlets which cover the back of the head but clear the neck.

You have to watch your classic around.

Paris Is Romantically Reminiscent

Quite up to date and indubitably the dress has white pique under the sashed yoke, with white stitching and buttons. The hat is of gendarme managers to suggest something of the sixteenth century clothes of the sixteenth century courts, when François I of France inspired the hat of black kinged it at Fontenay-le-Comte, and that accompanied a two-piece trunk of black wool. That folds are released in ruffles over the top of the arms; there is a belt of bright green leather, and the high plain

Neckline is set off by a padded roll

like a neckline covered with green

felt at front, in a new silhouette used with a shiny mail at center.

This style of immensely full swing-topout with the fulness hanging in folds at either side of the back or at front is featured by the house of Aline Harton, shown below. It is done here in a woolenlike synthetic fabric quite pebbly of surface, in prime red with yoke and sleeves of fabric striped in tones of blue and violet. Lions Restlessly Await Battle With Stanford Eleven

Physical condition of Coach Little's Men Near Perfect and Their Moral High—Warm Weather and Stanford Reserve May Claim a Tie

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 30 (AP).—Tipped to the attack and streaming at the head of the column, the Arizona football team awaited today their last opportunity for Pasadena before they meet their football rival, Stanford, New Year's day.

There was a calm tenseness about the Arizona squad as it prepared to break camp after a week of intense training under the warm Arizona sun. A short, snappy workout this afternoon was to terminate the stay in this quiet pueblo which boasts of sending great grid teams on to triumph on the coast.

The physical condition of the players was near perfect. The morale was high and there was a distinct local feeling of distrust of the odds against Coach Little's team.

Some Tough Hazards
But with all its great condition, Coach Little's band of none too big griders stand up to Stanford's big red team and survive? Can it still stay off the Indians when the first and second and third team reserves, all strong, alert players, enter the game? And what about those winter hardened youths from the Atlantic seaboard holding up for six minutes of hard football under a stern southern California sun?

Those were the questions being asked as the Lions milled around at the gruff, good-natured commands of Coach Little and paraded bag and baggage for the last leg of their transcontinental journey.

Probably the Rose Tournament series in its 18 years never saw a team which could handle the pie skin with such ease and assurance as can this light, fast Columbia aggregation.

An Excellent Backfield
There was no mistaking the fact that while they last, the first fifteen or so players of this squad of thirty know what they want to do with a football and know how to do it. In the starting backfield are Capt. Cliff Montgomery, fast darting quarterback who passes and punts with accuracy and distance and also runs with a hip-swinging change of pace that bothers would-be tacklers.

Then there is 130-pound Al Barabas, the power threat of the team; defensive fullback and Blond Ed Brodinski, only 170 pounds, but a sturdy blocker. That is Coach Little's starting backfield.

The Line Light
In front of them will be a light, low charging line and on it hinges the probable success or failure of the east's latest effort to regain lost prestige in intercollegiate play with the west's defenders.

In Anthony Matal, a short, stocky red-head, and Owen McDowell, a rangy Texan, Columbia has a pair of fine flank defenders. But the rest of the line lacks in poundage.

The team will leave here at 7:15 p. m. and arrive in Alhambra station near Pasadena at 9 a. m. Sunday. It will be taken immediately to its hotel on the rim of the Arroyo Seco, only a short punt and pass from the classic Rose Bowl.

A light warmup will be held in the afternoon as the team's final appearance until 2:15 p. m. (P. S. T.) game time Monday.

Richards, Tilden, Richards Continue Unbeaten
Philadelphia, Dec. 30 (AP).—Round-Robin play for the national professional indoor tennis championship entered the second day today with William T. (Big Bill) Tilden and Vincent Richards of New York unbeaten thus far.

Richards, seeded second, scored a well deserved triumph last night over Bruce Barnes, youthful Texan, in one of the Round-Robin semifinal matches. The score was 8-6, 6-4, 8-6.

Earlier, Tilden, who is seeded first, downed his former Davis Cup teammate, Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., 6-0, 6-3, 6-2.

Today, Tilden meets Barnes and Hunter clashes with Richards. The windup matches are scheduled for tomorrow.

Thrillers of '33

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Things are all cluttered up with claims and counter-claims of new high marks in 1933 college football roundup. We thought the last roundup of figures had been warbled out the demands are strong for an encore.

"Santa Clara's football attendance was nearer 205,000 than the 105,000, which appeared in your column in the Oakland Tribune," writes a Student Committee from this California college. "They played to 55,000 in the California game and to 60,000 in the St. Mary's game."

From Louis J. Trabasso of Oakland comes more specific data showing a total attendance of 208,000 for seven games played by Santa Clara, which is going to Honolulu for two more contests during the holiday season. It represents an increase of 100 per cent over the attendance for 1932 and compares with the best gains in the country.

From Berkeley come revised figures from Kenneth Priestly, director of the Associated Students' News Bureau, showing that the University of California Bears in ten games played before an aggregate of 390,000 spectators, as compared with the 1932 total of 321,000. This is the best record since 1931 and rates the Bears second to Southern California in the tabulation of Pacific Coast returns, pending the possibility of further rebuttal from Stanford or St. Mary's, or both.

Duke Draws 'Em.
The figures fairly leap from Durham, N. C., to show that the Duke Blue Devils are entitled to top ranking as a drawing card throughout the south.

The estimates vary, but it seems Wallace Wade's team played before about 90,000 cash customers at home and at least 50,000 "on the road" for a total of 140,000 in ten games.

"For the past couple of years and for the next several Duke will be the team with the attendance," writes Fred Haney. "Wallace Wade has produced something that no other Tar Heel school has ever had and as you know the people who pay are going where they will get the most for their money."

Tracing further the growth of "big-time" football in the south, A. W. Stamey writes in the Durham Sun:

"Modern football, so far as the south is concerned, made its debut in North Carolina 45 years ago. It was brought south to Trinity College (now Duke University) by the late John Franklin Crowell, president of Trinity. Crowell came to the south over North Carolina teams did not want to play with any degree of consistency. The state's teams fought it out among themselves.

The too, there were no modern highways and no stadiums. The relatively small attendance at the games did not encourage ambitious athletic programs.

Then along came Bo McMillin and Centre College in Kentucky. They made football history for the south.

"Not long after that, Wallace Wade gave up his position as assistant coach at Vanderbilt to become head coach at Alabama. In 1926 he carried the first southern team to the Rose Bowl, and in 1930 he carried his third team there. Not one of these was defeated. During the past season his Duke eleven became the first team between Atlanta and Annapolis, Md., to be considered a Rose Bowl possibility."

Foreign visitors landing in the British Isles for the first nine months of 1933 totaled 139,845, an increase of 5,427 over the corresponding period last year.

Grid Stars Taper Off For New Year's Game

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco, Dec. 30 (AP).—Over the peak of their heavy training routine and with a week's intensive practice behind them, football stars of the east and west tapered off today in final preparations for the annual charity game here New Year's day.

The squads survived several scrimmages, solid defensive blocking sessions and a dose of rainy weather without casualties. A few limps were noticeable and some of the players had colds but all told the injuries and illness were of a minor nature.

Light workouts will be held Sunday at which time the respective coaches, Dick Hanley and Andy Kerr of the east and Olin Hollingbery and Percy Toge of the west plan to announce the starting line-ups.

West's Starters Ready
The eleven men who will take the field for the kickoff have just about been decided upon in the west's practice stronghold at the University of California but Coaches Kerr and Hanley continued to shuffle their players, especially in the backfield.

On the Stanford University training field, late switches among the behind-the-line performers saw Charley Solaus of Colgate take over the quarterback position again. It was indicated Solaus would start at the position because he is better acquainted with the Warner system which the east will play. Paul Pardon of Purdue will be held for reserve duty at the pivot position.

Beattie Feathers, University of Tennessee star, was recalled to what appeared to be the starting eleven and is expected to open at left half.

Easterners Fear Rain
Threat of rain in the offing for New Year's Day was not alluring to the eastern mentors. Their backfield stars are light and speedy for the most part with three—Feathers, Joe Laws of Iowa and Herman Everhardus of Michigan—depending largely on clever footwork for gaining ground.

West weather or a soggy field would handicap the West's backfield operations as much as it would the other side. The Western ball carriers, mainly, are of the bulky, line cracking type with such stalwarts as George Sauer of Nebraska and Mike Mikulak of Oregon heading the list.

In case of rain the West's attack is expected to be one of line plunges, and an occasional short pass by way of variety. Each side is equipped with field goal kickers.

An Even Match
The two teams will line up on even terms, so far as those who back their opinions with money are concerned. Each side has 22 players and every one will be seen in action some time during the game.

Fifty thousand fans are expected to see the contest which will open at 2 p. m. (P. S. T.). Proceeds will go to the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital.

Brucks Wallop Highland, Play Brewers New Year's
Pete Bruck's All Stars polished off Highland for the second time this season Friday night at the southern Ulster county brigade's court as Herb Van Deussen, former DUSO League scoring ace, broke away from all the defense the home club tried on him, and caged the ball for 11 fields and two fouls, a total of 24 points.

Van's exhibition of shooting was one of the most spectacular seen at Highland in some years and the fans gave him plenty of applause. Chilson and Knoll with six each were next to him in scoring for the Redskins. Hall and Murphy made 12 and 10 for the Highland squad.

Christmas night the Brucks outshot Highland at High Falls, 48-21, and the boys from the lower Hudson community banked heavily on taking last night's skirmish on their own battleground.

Pete Bruck is more than happy over the outcome of last night's battle and predicts that his charges will come through with a win over the Poughkeepsie Brewers at B. W. S. Hall, High Falls, Monday night, New Year's. One of the largest crowds of the season is expected for this game, which will be preceded by a contest between the Stone Ridge Juniors and Columbians of Kingston. Starting time of the games is 7:15 and 8:45. Closing the program for the evening, there will be a dance with music by Malsenholder's Commanders.

Levinsky Wins Every Round from Britisher

Chicago, Dec. 30 (AP).—Don Dunnic McCorckindale, who came all the way from South Africa to pursue his boxing career, brought plenty of courage with him, but apparently little else with which to cope with such American heavyweights as King Levinsky, Chicago's celebrated ex-fish-peddler.

McCorckindale gave a convincing demonstration of his ability to sop up punishment last night against Levinsky in the Chicago Stadium. He got plenty of beating from the King, who won the unanimous decision of referee and judges.

At no time did the South African heavy do anything the least bit dangerous. Levinsky knocked him down seven times, four times in the first round and once each in the fourth, eighth and tenth frames, but couldn't keep him down.

Unlike American fighters who take nine counts when hurt, McCorckindale bounded up as soon as he could be regarded as his feet. The longest he remained on the floor was for a count of three, the fourth time he went down in the opening round. From there on it looked as though he was a cinch to be knocked out, but he managed to weather the storm of Levinsky's wild swings.

The King, who outweighed the African, 206½ to 192½ pounds, was credited with every round.

Troy Luckies Swamp The Zodiacs by 35-10, Play Bigelows Next

Evidently hampered by a cold ride from Ellenville to the White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, Friday night, the Zodiacs showed poor form against Jack Troy's Luckies, losing to the Kingston quintet by the humiliating score of 35-10. The victory was the fifth consecutive one of the season for the Luckies.

"Chipe" Rhymier figured brightest in the scoring attack of the Troymen, dropping in five fields and one foul for 11 points. Randy Kieffer and "Bing" Van Etten, newcomers to the team, were next in line with eight and five respectively.

The Zodiacs' chief point-maker was Adam Unverzagt, Ellenville boxer, who looped the leather through the hoop for six markers.

Bigelows Next
Next Friday night the Luckies will play the Saugerties Bigelows at the White Eagle. This match is expected to draw a large attendance of fans. There will be a preliminary and dance.
